CIVIC COMMITTEE CANDIDATES SPEAK AT RALLY SUNDAY

Mass Meeting To Be Held In Ye Lantern At 2.30 O'Clock — Campaign Plans To Be Mapped Out — Candidates Seeking Endorsement For Offices Not Yet Filled On Slate To Be Heard—Albert E. Hughes Heads Ticket As Committee Choice To Run Against Ernest Davis of Citizens' Committee

A comprehensive plan, which will result in the most vigorous and vote getting campaign this town has ever experienced, was formulated, last Tuesday evening by the candidates endorsed by the Civic Committee meeting at the home of Albert E. Hughes, Civic Committee candidate for Selectman.

The first step in this plan calls for a huge mass meeting of all the members of the Civic Committee, to be held at the "Ye Lantern" next Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

A cordial invitation to attend this meeting is extended to all the voters of the town.

At this meeting those candidates seeking the endorsement of the Committee for the remaining officers will present themselves. Details of the campaign plans will be discussed, general and present committees formed, and methods of procedure adopted.

The candidates already endorsed by the Civic Committee are: Albert E. Hughes for Selectman; Edward T. Ryan, for Board of Public Works; Peter F. O'Neill, for Assessor; Joseph J.

Bevins, for School Committee; Joseph Cormier, for Park Commissioner, for the three year term; and Paul C. Griffin, for Park Commissioner for the two year term will address the meeting.

The president of the Civic Committee John L. Murphy will preside.

Disregarding a cold driving rain, several hundred loyal supporters of candidates for office in the coming town election, gathered at the Junior High East Sunday afternoon to nominate their favorite candidates.

The meeting was called by the Civic Committee which will endorse the entire slate of nominees chosen.

24 Women To Work On CWA Census

Twenty-four census enumerators have been sworn in at the Old Town Hall Thursday at 2 p. m. They have also taken a pledge of secrecy regarding the results of this work.

Each worker has been assigned a special area in the town and will be equipped with two types of blanks, one termed the "family schedule" and contains spaces for 10 names. First comes the surname, then the given name, the sex, age, race, customary occupation and a statement whether the person is employed full time, part time or not employed at all. If the home is rented by the family, the monthly or weekly rate of rental is to be put down.

The other blue form sheet is furnished for information regarding unemployed persons 14 years of age and over. Questions 14 and 15 on this blank apply to children 18 years of age and under. They are: "When did person stop going to day school?" and "Has person had any regular employment since leaving day school?"

Since these census enumerators are expected to cover a given number of families each day, it is requested that the citizens of Arlington give them all the co-operation possible.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY PROMISES TO BE MOST ATTRACTIVE

Tickets for the production of "The Merchant of Venice" by the High School Dramatic Club to be given at the Town Hall on February 9, at 8 p. m., are being sold at the High school and may be ordered by mail. They will also be on sale at Blakes, Feb. 7.

The dress rehearsal will be given Thursday, Feb. 8 in the afternoon. Many neighboring high school dramatic clubs have accepted the invitation to attend.

Both the costumes and scenery are of the best quality and will help to make a vivid production. The leading ladies each have four different costumes. Scenery shifting has been so timed that it is possible to have only two minutes between scenes and just a little longer between acts.

Members of the Dramatic Club and others associated with the undertaking of the production ask the citizens of Arlington to cooperate and make this the finest play ever given in this town. This may be done by telling friends about the production and attending the play.

The principal characters are outstanding and promise to make the play an elaborate affair.

Shylock, the Jewish money-lender, will be portrayed by Emory Battis who has played many parts in Arlington and in New Hampshire stock companies.

Lorraine Miller, characterizing Portia, will make a charming woman. Her acting in the court scene is outstanding but she is at all times an appealing heroine. Antonio, the grave Venetian merchant, will be presented by David Yates, a very clever actor. Richard Fowler taking the part of Bassanio will prove to be a strong hero. Lorenzo, a friend of both Bassanio and Antonio who is the cause of the disrupting of Shylock's household, will be presented by Russell Curry, Jessica, the moneylender's daughter, will be taken by Marjorie Harrington. Supporting members of the cast are:

Duke of Venice John Buckley
Prince of Morocco Lauriston Davis
Solanio Winston Bullard
Solanio Phillip Whetherill
Gralano Milton Matthews
Gubal Chas. Movessian
Launcelot Gabbo
Leonardo Floyd Battis
Balthazar Chas. Tibbetts
Clerk of the Court Sherman Davison

VETERANS' COUNCIL ACTS TO KEEP G. A. R. HALL AS MEMORIAL

Take Action At Meeting Held This Week — Will Insert Article In Town Warrant Asking Town To Acquire G. A. R. Hall — Would Preserve It As Permanent Memorial and Headquarters For Veterans' Organizations — General Walter E. Lombard Heads Council

A move towards the preservation of G. A. R. hall as a permanent memorial to Arlington's Civil War veterans and at the same time provide suitable quarters for local veterans' organizations was made at a meeting of the Veterans' Council this week.

It was the unanimous opinion of the council members that some action should be taken. The committee recommended that the Town of Arlington appropriate a sum of money to take over land and building known as the Grand Army Hall, and make suitable quarters for all veterans in accordance with Sections 9 and 9A, Chapter 40, General Laws of Massachusetts. Practically every city and town in the State have made some provision for quarters for veterans' organizations.

The following resolution will be presented in the Town warrant:

"To see if the town will vote to acquire the building on Massachusetts ave, known as Grand Army Hall, repair and remodel the same and make additions thereto in order to provide suitable headquarters for the veterans' organizations of Arlington. By so doing the veterans council believes the Grand Army Hall the Republic quarters can be preserved as a memorial."

The objects of the council are to promote a more cooperative observance of Memorial Day and to arrange for participation in all patriotic and military exercises, it being agreed that each organization shall have full charge of its own principal day.

The following is a list of council members present at the meeting: Gen. Walter Lombard, Joseph Peterson, James Lowe, Chester Williams, J. J. Donahoe, M. J. Geary, B. Dignan, Fred Coupl, Sahag Arakelyan, George Dossios. The council will meet again in February.

Whether the town itself can take over G. A. R. hall is problematical. It is understood that the hall was originally turned over to the G. A. R. with the understanding that upon the death of the last veteran it be turned over to the town and whatever financial return could be derived from the hall, this money should go to the library trustees for the purchase of books, equipment, etc. It is felt by many who are not members of veterans' groups that local veterans' organizations should be provided with suitable headquarters by the town.

Other Matters Considered At the business meeting held by the veterans council many important and interesting matters were discussed.

The council elected Gen. Walter E. Lombard, Commander of U. S. W. V. Camp 66, president; Senior V. C. Joseph Peterson of Post 1775, V. F. W., was elected secretary-treasurer, to serve for one year.

GREAT LEADERS' DAYS!

Man Found Guilty Of Non-Support; Gave Up Job To Get Aid

The boast that he could throw up his job and get welfare aid from the Town of Arlington might sound like a good theory to Robert Wharton, of 71 Paul Revere rd, but much to his surprise he discovered once and for all yesterday that it doesn't pay. Brought into court at East Cambridge on a complaint made by Clifford W. Cook, local welfare agent, Wharton was found guilty of non-support by Judge Grant. The case was continued until February 15 at which time it will be disposed. Unless Wharton gets a job before that time and gives up his welfare aid, it is possible that he may serve a jail sentence.

According to Mr. Cook and Town Counsel John Murphy who prosecuted the case, Wharton's plan was known to Cook for some time. About December 20, last, Wharton, who is married and has one child, boasted that he could give up his job and get welfare aid thereby receiving more per week without the necessity of working for it. Mr. Cook, the welfare agent, was fully aware of Wharton's plans and when the latter threatened to go through with it, Mr. Cook did everything to persuade him not to, according to the latter. "Others are getting away with it," Mr. Cook was told but he emphasized that such was not the case. Wharton gave up his job, and on December 31, applied to the welfare department for aid. In order that the man's family might not suffer from lack of food and warmth, the Town gave them welfare aid but Mr. Cook upon recommendation of the selectmen went ahead and prosecuted. Unable to bring up a charge of fraud, the welfare agent used his authority to bring a non-support charge against Wharton.

PATTERSON PROMOTED TO LAWRENCE FIRM

Robert H. Patterson, who has been manager of the Arlington Gas Light Company since 1923, has just been elected vice president and manager of the Lawrence Gas and Electric Company, and will leave Arlington early next week to assume his new duties.

As his successor here the directors of the Arlington Gas Light Company have elected Horace G. Taylor, who has been manager of the Lawrence company since 1929, and Mr. Taylor is expected to report for duty here on Monday and become the principal operating executive of the Arlington company.

This promotion for Mr. Patterson is another step upward in the career of a man who, while still in his thirties, has held many important positions in the New England public utility field. Born in Providence in 1897 Mr. Patterson entered the gas industry as a cadet engineer in the Providence Gas Company. During the war he operated the government gas plant at the military academy at West Point. After the war he entered the employ of the Worcester Gas Company as assistant superintendent of production in 1920 he went to North Adams as assistant manager of the gas company there and came to Arlington in 1928 as manager. During his service here the Arlington company has expanded by taking over the Lexington and Woburn gas companies so that the combined company is now one of the largest in the state.

Mr. Patterson has been a leader in the civic affairs of Arlington, and while his friends will rejoice in his promotion he will be missed in the activities of such organizations as the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club. He served one term as president of the Chamber of Commerce and achieved remarkable success.

Horace G. Taylor, the new manager here, has had a long and varied career in the gas industry. A native of Trenton, New Jersey, he was graduated from the Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken in 1919, with the degree of M.E. He then joined the engineering staff of Humphreys and Glasgow of London, England and for a number of years traveled all over the world installing water gas plants in England, Australia, New Zealand, Holland and in the United States.

Auxiliary To Entertain

The Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Club of Boston, will hold a card party, with Mrs. Jennie Blakie, chairman and a food sale under the direction of Mrs. Charles W. Nelson, assisted by Mrs. Harry E. Smith on Feb. 6 at 2 p. m. at the Y. W. C. A., 140 Clarendon st. Tea will be served, chairman of hostesses is Miss Mary Melish. Several Arlington women, members of the Auxiliary, are taking an active interest in the affair.

Valentine Party Feb. 10

The Middlesex Sportsmen's clubhouse will be the scene of a gala party on the evening of February 10 when the Community Club of Arlington will hold its Comic Valentine Costume dance. The affair will start at 8 o'clock and a real good time is promised.

This newspaper is working constantly for your city. It strives always for the protection of public rights, looking only to the common good as their goal.

American Premiere Here, Feb. 8

Thanks to the efforts of Miss Marjorie Manning, Program Director of the Friends of the Drama, that organization is to see for the first time in America a presentation of the five-act English production of "The Perfect Plot" at the Middlesex Sportsmen's Clubhouse, Thursday, Feb. 8.

The basic plot concerns the mistaken shooting of a man by an irate husband, and the audience is then permitted to see how the plot would have been solved if the play had been finished by J. M. Barrie, Noel Coward, and the other leading playwrights. There are in all five separate and distinct productions—with five different casts and five different coaches. It should be a very interesting meeting of the Friends of the Drama.

The murder of Archbishop Tourian snuffed out the life of a most illustrious church leader and aroused considerable interest throughout the country. He was at one time prelate of Bulgaria and had spent many trying years in the service of his people. He later served in a high position in England and since 1931 was Primate of the Armenian church in the United States. He wrote several volumes of sermons.

ANTI-TRUST LAWS MODIFIED

Relaxation of certain provisions of the antitrust laws in the National Industrial Recovery Act has been discussed recently in a manner to convey the impression that it was an eleventh-hour decision, almost an afterthought, of which the public was not adequately advised.

The truth is that President Roosevelt did not dwell upon any other phase of his recovery program over a longer period of time or with more emphasis, conviction, and clarity than what he termed the vital necessity for modifying the Sherman and Clayton laws. Throughout his campaign for election he advocated "such balance among productive processes as will stabilize the structure of business" and declared "that such a balance should be maintained by cooperation within business itself goes without saying." In his inaugural address he recognized that "the people want direct, vigorous action; they have asked for discipline and direction under leadership."

In a Nation-wide radio talk May 7 he said: "The so-called 'anti-trust laws' were intended to prevent the creation of monopolies and to forbid unreasonable profits to those monopolies. That purpose of the antitrust laws must be continued, but these laws were never intended to encourage the kind of unfair competition that results in long hours, starvation wages, and overproduction." Three days previously he had spoken in the same vein to the largest convention of chambers of commerce ever held. The NRA was formally introduced at the extra session of Congress on May 17. In his special message of that date the President said:

"One of the great restrictions upon such cooperative efforts has been our antitrust laws. They should certainly be retained as a permanent assurance that the old evils of unfair competition shall never return. But the public interest will be served if, with the authority and under the guidance of Government, private industries are permitted to make agreements and codes insuring fair competition."

Careful consideration and minute scrutiny as to how the privilege of cooperative effort is being maintained by commerce and industry is always in order, under the published regulations of the National Recovery Administration. But discussion as to the "propriety" of the grant, now that nearly 250 codes are in operation, would have been more timely in the interval between May 17 and June 16, the dates of submission and approval of the act. That a general public scrutiny is scheduled was announced by NRA in December for February 15.

CIVIC COMMITTEE PICKS SLATE

Considerable interest has been manifested for some time in the newly organized Civic Committee of Arlington which sponsored a well attended meeting on Sunday afternoon at the Junior High East where nominees were chosen for major town offices.

The Civic Committee slate selected includes Albert Hughes for selectman, Edward T. Ryan, board of public works, Peter F. O'Neil, for assessor, Paul C. Griffin, park commissioner, two-year term, Joseph Cormier, park commissioner, three-year term and Joseph Bevins, school committee.

In selecting Mr. Hughes to head this slate the Civic Committee undoubtedly showed good judgment. In spite of the fact that there were other promising candidates for the office of selectman, Mr. Hughes seems to possess to a greater degree than the other aspirants the qualifications that would fit him for the responsibilities of this office in the event of his election.

THE NEWS OBSERVES

An imposing array of opera stars will appear at the Boston Opera House during the week of Feb. 5th which will be Grand Opera Week in Boston. The series is given by the New Boston Opera Company, Tommaso Nazza, general director, Jeritza, Ponselle, Edith Mason and other famous stars will appear.

Apparently our editorial about the need of a town ambulance struck a sympathetic chord with some of our citizens. What have you to say about it?

Some of our local business men would do better if they would quit running down their competitors and would attend to their own business.

Speeding autos on Massachusetts are still a menace to pedestrians. A New England Coke truck nearly bowled over the writer a few days ago in front of the Post Office. We still insist that the traffic lights on Massachusetts are along this stretch are very much needed.

Many visited the auto dealers' showrooms during the past week to see the 1934 models mentioned in the News. All dealers, but one cooperated to let Arlington people know through our columns what wonderful cars were right here at your doorstep. It's not too late to see and ride in these 1934 beauties.

All in all the meeting of the Civic Committee last Sunday was very quiet and orderly. We even noticed a few Republicans present.

A newcomer to town asks for a declaration of purpose from the Citizens' Committee and the Civic Committee. Why not publish a statement of aims and purposes and give a list of officers of each organization?

The Post Office Department feels that it cooperates with, but does not invade the banking field. Too bad then can't say that about the printing field.

We have heard reports that the banks were planning to be a little more liberal to the small business man requiring accommodations. When do they begin?

The Japanese didn't seem to like being referred to as "the yellow peril" by Mussolini.

We are fortunate in having a man like Joseph W. Bartlett as director of the CWA in Massachusetts. The writer is well acquainted with him having been associated with him while acting on the Board of Aldermen in Newton. Mr. Bartlett always impressed us as being capable, unbiased and absolutely fair in dealing with all questions.

We deliver the News free to thousands of Arlington Heights homes at considerable cost. Our advertisers make this possible, yet Arlington Heights merchants are conspicuous by their absence most of the time. If you live in the Heights and appreciate receiving the News free each week why not ask your merchant to tell you what he has to offer in our columns?

Two 50 cent classified ads in last Friday's News brought 18 and 20 replies within 24 hours.

MacMILLIN AND SHINN OUT FOR PLAN BOARD

Do you believe in advertising? We should say we do. Doing business without advertising is like winking at a girl in the dark—you know what you're doing but no one else does.

This week Vallancourts Market received a shipment of 25 cases of Fancy Florida Oranges which will go on sale Friday. See their advertisement.

Mr. and Mrs. Locatelli and Mr. Oliver of Locatelli's Spanish Shop are enjoying a few weeks stay in Florida.

Franklin Wyman, wellknown restaurant operator is all smiles. He's the proud father of a baby daughter born last Tuesday.

The Arlington Citizens' Committee candidates for election to the Planning Board are Charles M. MacMillin and Edward L. Shinn. Mr. MacMillin came to Arlington over 25 years ago and now lives at 95 Jason st. He became interested in town affairs at an early date, and was a member of the Finance Committee for four years. He has been a member of the Planning Board for eight years and is now a candidate for reelection for a three year term. Mr. MacMillin served as Chairman of the Planning Board for four years. He also represents his precinct as a Town Meeting member, and has served on several committees named by the Moderator.

Mr. MacMillin is at present the New England Sales Manager for the Hazel-Atlas Glass Co., and is the Chairman of the Welfare Council of Arlington, besides having served on the Tercentenary Committee in 1930.

Mr. Shinn is a native of Massachusetts and has been a resident of Arlington for almost 24 years. He owns his own home at 74 Florence ave. He has been in the employ of the New England Coal and Coke Co., and now is Assistant Sales Manager in charge of the All Rail Dept. Mr. Shinn served fourteen years in the Massachusetts National Guard and was retired with the rank of Major, and is a veteran of the Spanish War.

Mr. Shinn has been a Town Meeting member for several terms; a member of the Town Committee on Playground at Arlington Heights, and a member of the Town Committee on the Elementary School on Pleasant ave. The Town is indeed fortunate to have two men of such caliber willing to devote their time to the somewhat thankless work of the Planning Board.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Taber Hall Receive Praise On Anniversary

The Arlington Ministers' association met yesterday noon and the following resolution of respect and felicitations were unanimously passed:

The members of the Arlington Ministers' association hereby express to Rev. and Mrs. Charles Taber Hall on completion of twenty years of service in Arlington their congratulations and expression of friendship and sincere good will.

Through a period of change and transition in our community and church life you have ever labored rare wisdom and devotion. We rejoice that through these years of service you have seen the growth of your parish and something of the fruitage of your planting.

We congratulate you and the people of St. John's Parish that this anniversary event comes at the exact time of your new church building project. It is indeed fitting that your building through the years should thus be symbolized in this splendid material advancement. Rejoicing in the past achievements and the pleasant realities there is our united prayer that the coming days may give to you in Arlington increasing joy through every richer service.

V. F. W. TO HAVE PENNY SALE THIS EVENING

Post 1775, V. F. W. hold its regular meeting this evening in G. A. R. Hall, Mass. avenue. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock. The business session will be short, to give the members of the Post and their friends an opportunity to attend a penny sale which will be conducted by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Arlington Post.

The penny sale is open to the public. Members of the Post are requested to bring their friends. All are invited.

No recruits will be obligated at this meeting as all applicants accepted between now and February 15 are to be obligated by Commander-in-Chief Van Zandt over the radio in Junior High School East on Foster street, February 15, in a nation wide broadcast. An interesting program is being arranged by the committee in charge.

All eligible Veterans are invited to attend this meeting. The membership committee wants the assistance of every member of the Post in signing up new members in this drive for the cause of all veterans.

Objectives of V. F. W. The most important objectives of the V. F. W. in 1934 are:

1.—Federal responsibility for the care of the veteran.

2.—Adequate relief for veterans suffering from injury or disease incurred in actual war service.

3.—Relief for those veterans suffering from disabilities due to injury, disease or old age who are no longer able to carry on.

4.—Relief for widows and orphans of all veterans regardless of the cause of the veterans' death.

5.—Removal of existing regulations making it necessary for veterans and their dependents to prove they are paupers before they can receive compensation, pensions or hospitalization.

6.—Immediate cash payment of adjusted service certificate.

Council to Meet Here

At a Middlesex county council meeting held in Wakefield last Sunday, Commander Chester Williams extended an invitation to the council to hold its next council meeting in Arlington, which was accepted and will be held on the fourth Sunday in February.

held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. J. H. Saunders, 61 Cedar ave, this week. The third lecture was given by Dr. Helen McGillicuddy, the subject being "Social Hygiene for the Adolescent Child." Refreshments were served.

SPORT TOPICS

By BOB FOREST

Arthur Cardinal, Arlington's gift to the fistic world battles Paul Quattrone in a four rounder at the Garden tonight. "Art is one of the finest boxers I ever managed" were the words of Harry Kelly to yours truly. He has the makings of a champion and will be cheered on tonight by a legion of friends who will be in to see him box.

This column as far as we can see is very adequately marked. To those who rather disapprove of it, (thank goodness there aren't many), we might say that there is no law stating you must read it and if you are too lazy to lift your eyes in case you did unconsciously stray into it, well we are truly sorry.

It seems to be the custom in other schools to have some sort of an organization of former athletes. Tom Whalen at Lynn hit upon the idea of forming a club of all recipients of letters for athletic ability in that school. A worthy idea. But we are afraid that it would find no support in our illustrious school. In fact they prefer to have past athletes forgotten as quickly as possible, but that is only the ruling in the minority. We have an idea that there might be an organization yet.

The skating has been great this week only it has been a little too cold. It was perfect on Wednesday though and a large number enjoyed the skating, of which there has been so much this year.

Arlington High is having a number of close games, but it must be Bill Lowder's luck because the team has won two games by scores that differ only by a point, Medford and Cambridge Latin to be exact.

Outside of the fact that we were frozen Tuesday afternoon and sat with John Hendrick on top of the radiator to keep score, everything was fine. Probably the young fellow who was standing near us didn't think the same way after the game.

He seemed to take it for granted that Cambridge was going to beat Arlington. His main cry was that they weren't beating them by enough. The refereeing was terrible, the score was awful, the lights were bad, in fact nothing suited him. We'll bet the final score didn't.

Give credit to a fighting Irish heart in the breast of "Pat" O'Brien who refused to admit the team was beaten, and personally scored nine points to put the high school within one point of tying the score and then to have Bart Madden drop in the winning basket.

Young O'Brien turned over a new leaf in Arlington High athletics with his brilliant playing on Tuesday afternoon. He had been playing regular on the second squad with an occasional sortie into the ranks of the first team when the score was either too far gone or they were away ahead.

A couple of accidents happened to Arlington players and Pat found himself in at forward with Arlington hopelessly outclassed. Suddenly he was under the basket and with an "English" shot he parted the strings. The small crowd gave a little yell. But what was the use.

Then with an identical play Pat did it again. A surprised yell came out of the crowd and then when O'Brien repeated twice more and dropped a foul shot to make the score 24 to 23 in favor of the Red and Gray the fans were wild-eyed and screaming.

With one minute and forty-five seconds to play (we know because we were keeping score) Madden looped one to give Arlington a one point lead. Cambridge almost tied the score with a second to go but the shot failed and the High School had annexed their fourth victory.

Polly Harris the referee of the game handed out fouls fairly free, but only Curley Shields was eliminated on fouls, although Siders went the last two periods with three fouls on him. Polly attempted to imitate the comedian Joe Penner on one of the fouls he called.

Brud Clarke received a bad elbow injury. We doubt that he will play tonight. He had previously hurt his other elbow and now both are now on pension. Brud has hurt his nose, his arm, his leg and both elbows. He really plays hard and usually is injured in melees under the Arlington net.

Lowder, Madden, Siders, Shields and O'Brien of the first team will be back next year. Three of them will be there for the next two years and maybe three. That is rather a delicate observation to make so we will just say, "Let's skip that point." We have to skip a lot of things these days.

The second team is composed of almost all sophomores. Give Bill Lowder two more years and Arlington will start having some more Tech Tournament teams. Even next year we'll bet they are going to make a good bid for it. If they had only beaten Belmont they might still be in the running.

Jones, a valuable asset to the team was missing from the game because of the fact that he was sick. Siders although not equal to Jones was right in there every minute and will prove a valuable substitute in the next few games.

Arlington starts on the way back tonight when they play the beginning of the last half of their schedule in a game with Chelsea at the new gymnasium.

Friends of Drama To Sponsor Ball

To assist in financing the purchase of the property of St. John's Episcopal Church at Academy and Maple sts for use as a little theatre and workshop the Friends of the Drama have arranged a Theatrical Ball to be held in Robbins Memorial Town Hall on Friday evening, February 16, with dancing from 8.30 to one o'clock. Music will be furnished by Perley Broad and orchestra of nine pieces. Judges have consented to award prizes for the best costumes. There will be an entertainment and refreshments.

Parker Wood is chairman of the committee in charge, the large group being divided into sub-committees with the following chairmen: B. Shapley Symonds, orchestra; Marjorie Manning, entertainment; Mrs. A. Warren Rutherford, decorations; Curtis Pinkham, tickets; and Wallace M. Powers, publicity. Mary Louise Wood is secretary of the committee. Mr. Wood announces that the number of tickets is strictly limited and that balcony reservations may be made at half price for those who do not care for dancing.

Oxford Court Grille and Coffee Shop Now Serves Choice Liquors

Oxford Court Grille and Coffee Shop is now serving its patrons choice wines and liquors with all the modern service facilities, having installed a serving bar.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED BY WELFARE COUNCIL

A regular meeting of the Welfare Council was held on Friday, Jan. 26. Many matters of great importance were discussed. Election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: Mrs. Roscoe B. Perry, President; Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Associate President; Mrs. Ernest W. Davis, Vice President; Mrs. Emma L. Sprague, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. C. R. Gleason, Recording Secretary and Mrs. W. D. Sawyer, Treas.

New delegates from the churches of St. Agnes Calvary Methodist and Church of Our Savior were presented, Mrs. Anna Callahan from St. Agnes, Mrs. Wm. Goudie from Calvary Methodist, and Mrs. Ed. Colby from Church of Our Savior.

It was decided to have a committee to follow up the children who were sent to camp during the summer as it is quite necessary for these children to have proper preparation of mixed drinks.

Their wine list includes the best assortment available. These new additions with the previous arrangements makes Oxford Court Grille and Coffee Shop an ideal place, not only to those who are dining and entertaining, but is also well patronized by the business and professional classes in Cambridge.

In addition to the regular luncheons, dinners, and a la Carte menu, they are featuring two half-price specials, changed daily. The motto in regard to alcoholic beverages will be the same as in reference to their food: "Serving the best for the least."

The Spanish Room is used principally for banquets and socials. Supper, Dancing will take place every Saturday evening from 8 p. m. to Midnight, in the Spanish Room commencing February 3rd Music by Art Rubin in Person, and his Orchestra—recently featured at the Copley Plaza Societas Fantastic Fiesta No cover charge. The main entrance is at 1812 Massachusetts ave. For reservations call University 10145.

Lester Richardson, of Summer st, is recuperating at his home from injuries received while skating on the Brooks Estate in West Medford last Friday. He was rushed to the Symmes hospital where X-rays failed to reveal any serious injuries. Richardson was skating when he suddenly tripped over a stone and as a result of the fall he was knocked unconscious.

special care in their homes and under the supervision of their family doctor. This care is necessary to carry on the good accomplished at camp.

Everything is beautifully made and of course all hand sewing. Gloves and mittens for men are needed sorely and it is hoped to receive many of these articles at once.

The Council has several families who are trying to provide for themselves by supplying home made pies, cakes and rolls to the public. They will deliver and their prices are moderate. Phone your order to Arl. 6208 and it will receive prompt attention.

Many new families are coming to the Council for aid and it is hard to refuse aid but funds are lacking and so it has to be done. Many of these people have been without employment for a long time but had a little money put away for a rainy day. Now the money is gone and they are compelled to ask aid. Harvard Professor Is Speaker At Woman's Club

Arranged by the International Relations committee of which Mrs. Clarence Dempsey is chairman a highly interesting meeting was enjoyed by the Arlington Woman's club yesterday afternoon in Robbins Memorial Town hall.

Professor J. Anton DeHaas of Harvard University gave a stirring talk on "Are We Progressing Toward Peace?" in which he discussed international relations at length. During the program, Job Negiem, a native of Arabia rendered several numbers. Mr. Negiem was heard in songs which were given well-merited applause.

Capitol Theatre To Show "Little Women"

And now the screen fans walk arm in arm with Louisa M. Alcott into the romantic glories of the Sixties, back to the days when women were dainty as well as beautiful, and men bowed with the grace of knighthood. The sentence should be enough to make the lovers of "Little Women" and they number into the millions, weep with joy.

Here is the immortal sister quartette played by Katherine Hepburn, Army played by Joan Bennett, Meg played by Francis Dee, Beth played by Jean Parker.

For the masculine half of the cast are players of a similar steller magnitude—Paul Lukas is Fritz Bhaer, the quaint professor who finally wins Joy; Douglas Montgomery is Laurie, the rich boy next door; Henry Stephenson is Mr. Laurence, the grumpy neighbor whose bark is worse than his bite. Of course you have been waiting to hear who won the role of Aunt March, and the selection is a gem too, for it's Edna May Oliver. The Capitol Theatre is proud to present "Little Women" next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

As Bill Bailey, known as the "Ball Bond King," George Bancroft, too long absent from the screen, has a role in "Blood Money" that fits him like the proverbial glove. "Blood Money" opening at the Capitol next Thursday is an action-packed thriller-drama plus a dynamic characterization by Bancroft, and some very splendid acting by Francis Dee, Judith Anderson of the stage, Blossom Seeley and many others. Bancroft as the boss of the underworld finds himself seriously interested in Francis Dee, a society girl and kleptomaniac. The delicious, dangerous exciting mess this gets every one into drives "Blood Money" to a furious climax.

"If I Were Free"—the verse phrase often voiced by the harassed housewife, the man behind the bars, the henpecked husband, the enslaved worker—provides not only the title but the theme for the companion picture which co-stars Olive Brook and Irene Dunne.

Miss Dunne and Mr. Brook fresh from their respective triumphs in "Ann Vickers" and "Cavalcade" are seen in the complications of a modern love. The story is from the stage play, "Behold We Live" successfully produced on the London stage by the author John Van Druten.

BELIEVES TOWN SHOULD PROVIDE QUARTERS FOR VETS' ORGANIZATION

The possibility that G. A. R. hall might be made a permanent memorial building and renovated by the Town to provide suitable headquarters for all veterans' organizations in Arlington has aroused considerable interest locally. Referring to the work of veterans' organizations and the need of headquarters, Sahag Arakelyan, a member of William Power Kenilbs Post, Spanish War Veterans said yesterday:

"I was about 20 years old when first I came to this country, in the Fall of 1889. From the beginning I was very much interested in the American history. As the War of Independence, and the Civil War have played such an important part in the American History, I gave much time to study it.

"In 1890 the G. A. R. Veterans were comparatively young and numerous. To look on Civil War veterans in their uniforms was an inspiration for me. One year after I arrived in this country, I read in the papers that the G. A. R. Encampment would take place in Boston. I came to Boston to see the parade. It was a great sight to look on these patriotic American citizens march, by the thousands passing a certain point hour after hour. There was a grand stand in Copley Square in front of it, but in front of it, standing President Ben Harrison. Imagine the admiration and the feeling of a foreigner, one who had been depressed by a despotic and cruel government.

"Here I was standing among American citizens free to do as I pleased and enjoy my newly found freedom. Here Freedom conceived in Patriotism is the gift of God to the people of this country. Here freedom has created heroes who in hour of dangers volunteered, suffered and sacrificed in order to save the Union. They did succeed well creating a united Nation. Long live the memory of the Grand Army of the Republic."

"Now they are answering the last call. They are going to their last reward, and will be no more. Who will take the place of the Civil War Veterans? It is easily and promptly answered, the Veterans of the Spanish War, the World War and the Foreign worlds veterans. Can they take the place of the G. A. R.? First of all they are patriotic Americans. They have taken their inspiration from the G. A. R. and will carry on the good work," he continued.

"Now I think I can prove that they are honestly and sincerely striving to serve their country as well as they did in time of war. Let me call the attention of Arlington people to the funeral of the late Capt. Knowles, the last Civil War veteran in Arlington. The day after the funeral the Arlington Daily News said it was the greatest funeral this Town has ever had. The church was filled and the grounds and sidewalks were covered with Arlington people who could not get inside the building. There were the massed flags of the four veteran organizations leading the funeral procession, followed by the Spanish American War veterans, the World War veterans and the veterans of Foreign Wars. The Legion Band furnished the music. If indeed it was a great funeral as the Arlington News admitted then all the credit goes to the three Arlington veterans' organization," the veteran said further.

"I would like also to mention the school parade here in Arlington last summer. Also the Memorial Day exercises, the decorating of graves and parade in which the veterans fulfilled their obligations with credit. I also could mention other useful activities of the veterans.

"Now in order to explain the aims of our Camps and Posts, I will have to speak about the William Power Kenilbs Camp in Arlington, Spanish War Veterans. One of the smallest camps in the State, we have fifty-six members. One of our many obligations is to help our comrades in sickness or distress. Since last August our camp has lost four comrades by death. We have also several comrades seriously sick. Quite a few are out of jobs. We help these needy comrades. It takes some money to run our camp," Mr. Arakelyan stressed.

He continued, "The only income we have are the dues from the members of our Camp. Now with all these conditions the Camp has one difficult problem to solve. In order for the camp to function properly it must have a headquarters. The State Legislature has given permission to the Cities and Towns, to give the veterans a building. I can mention a dozen Towns, not so prosperous as Arlington, which have helped their veterans in furnishing such a Building. But Arlington so far has not yet done anything."

A. L. Auxiliary To Have Party

The next meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at 661 Mass. ave., Monday, February 8th, after a short meeting there will be a Bridge and Whist party. Refreshments will be served.

On Thursday evening, January 25th, the Arlington and Medford American Legion Auxiliaries gave a Birthday party to the Veterans at Bedford Hospital. A number of girls from both units and also a delegation from Lowell unit helped to make an enjoyable evening of dancing possible.

Refreshments were served, these being donated by Arlington and Medford Units.

Mrs. Marion B. Keefe, Pres. and Mrs. May Watts were in charge of the Arlington Auxiliary group and Mrs. Flanagan and Mrs. Lyons of the Medford group.

Parties Given Special Attention At Local Manor

Special attention is now being given to parties at the Mansfield Manor on Lake street. Reservations for dinners or luncheons can be made in advance by calling Arlington—4157.

Here is the ideal place for family dinners, luncheon, bridge and afternoon teas. Pleasant surroundings and delicious food go to make this place one of the most popular in Arlington. For those who entertain, a telephone reservation is all that is necessary. Mrs. Mansfield will give her personal attention to arrangements.

In honor of Christian Endeavor Day, the Young People's Society of the Heights Baptist Church will have charge of services to be held at that church next Sunday. Selections by the Christian Endeavor choir will be featured and several young people of the congregation will take part in conducting the services.

High School Notes

By R. H. D.

Wearing ski pants to school seems to be a new vogue for the girls. Among those wearing them the first day were Lorraine Miller, who takes the part of Portia in "The Merchant of Venice," and Marjorie Harrington, who is Jessica.

Eric Elsie thinking to introduce a new fad among the boys, turned up the cuffs of his pants and paraded around.

Don't forget to buy your ticket for "The Merchant of Venice," Russell Curry, advertising manager, says tickets may be bought on an installment plan by pupils. The Dramatic Club needs all the support it can get.

The time for Senior year book pledges has been extended to Feb. 15th. That is positively the last day for entries.

For sports this weekend we have:

Boys' basketball game with Chelsea at home today.

Girls' basketball game at Malden today.

Indoor track with Everett at home today.

Tomorrow at the Boston Garden the hockey team plays Belmont.

The February meeting of the Searchlight Club will be held next Thursday afternoon, Feb. 8, at 2.30 o'clock. Mrs. Edith Abicrombie Snow of Detroit will be the guest speaker. The meeting will be open.

Arlington To Play Chelsea Here Tonight

By Bob Forest

Coach Bill Lowder's Arlington High basketball team takes on the undefeated Chelsea High team in the new High School basketball gym tonight. Chelsea previously beat Arlington when they traveled over to that city for the opener. Arlington has shown little promise since then up till last Tuesday when almost by accident the prospects of the Arlington quintet leaped considerably when a young Irish man by the name of Pat O'Brien was suddenly thrown into the game and what looked like a sure defeat by Arlington was in the last two minutes of play turned into victory.

Chelsea has a sure Tech Tourney team and looks to us as having the winning team. It isn't a question of winning tonight but just how much will they win by, and will the Red and Gray be able to score more than one basket against them. Jones and Clarke are both ailing and that will prove a serious handicap to the Red and Gray but we think the fans who are going to jam the hall tonight will get a very interesting game for their money.

Hockey Tomorrow
The hockey team battles Belmont to a rare-see-well in the Garden tomorrow afternoon. It looks as though the hockey game is going to have a decided Arlington tinge the way the team has been improving right along. They have had plenty of time to practice this past week, and should show up better, although they were almost perfect against the strong Melrose team which they tied last Friday night. Belmont with the aid of Ford and Ecker last year had rather an easy time of it, but the Belmont team is minus these two players and as a result has been rather easy pickings for most of the teams in the Interscholastic League. Arlington should win handily.

New Management At The Kernwood
Catering to those who insist upon home-cooked and tasty food, the Kernwood Lunch at 464 Massachusetts ave was taken over by John Kerrigan, of Belmont this week.
The restaurant which has been operated here for the past two years has been thoroughly redecorated so that patrons may eat amid pleasant surroundings. Special luncheons will be featured by the new management and a cordial invitation is also extended to the public to inspect the kitchen at its convenience.

AS A FAN SEES HIS FAVORITE CONTEST

By Bob Forest

People sitting on the sidelines often think differently but very seldom have a chance to say anything. Supposing we put into print just what we think people are thinking of at sports contests. We can explain some of the things in another part of the column.

For instance we have seen three athletic events recently. The K. of C. track meet, the Amateur basketball league, and the High School basketball game. We'll take them in that order.

At the Garden: "Gee what a lot of stuffed shirts down there. It looks more like a banquet than a track meet. Boy there's some real athletic ability running around the track, wonder how many are football players. All the programs sold. People certainly want to know names. Wonder which is Spitz, Brown, etc. Wonder if Fleet is going to be on the B. C. team. I see they allow smoking in here. They never use to at the Arena. What a rapid job the workmen do in taking up the track and hurries to make ready the circular track. Wasn't that dumb, that official ringing the bell at the wrong time. And look the other is holding the card saying there are two more laps and there is really only one. He was rattled by that bell I guess. Sort of nice and warm in here, must be tough on the runners. Wonder if there is anyone I know running. So and So goes to Harvard, maybe he is running. Say Brother, let's see your program a minute. Gee there are a lot of people here. They say when a man becomes a track fanatic, there is none worse. Oh there's a nice looking girl (or boy) over there.

I, wonder. Marvelous what a great race that boy ran. Too bad he was nosed out at the end. The meet was kind of tough at the beginning but it's getting better. Track certainly brings out the heart in a man if he has any. Spitz is trying hard to break that record. Hope he does. Would like to see a record smashed. When he almost made it that time. Tried my best to help him. That Northeastern kid is certainly jumping fine to tie Keith Brown." At the Junior High East: "Most of these games aren't so hot, but one good one makes up for all the rest. Wonder who the A. A. is playing tonight. . . Boy that's a rough game on the floor. Glad I'm in the seat and not out there. Great to watch but too rough to play. Uniforms have a great psychological effect in these games. The teams that are uniformed I notice are away up in the standing. Wish they had a score board. Rather hard to keep score by memory. Wonder how they designate between two shots and one when a foul is called. It must be hard refereeing a game. Hey that's wrong. The referee called a foul on a man, when just a minute before the same thing happened and he didn't call it. Gee, time takes a great toll. There's part of the greatest team Arlington ever had and a bunch of untrained players are holding them to a close game. What a marvelous build Bob Friery has. Look at the shooting eye of Joe Murphy, and the all-around fine playing of Harold Davidson. Guess the A. A. misses John Driscoll. John Donahue is fast coming back in shape and he is ever as smart as he used to be. What a great athlete in High School. Not much of a crowd here tonight. The weather's too cold. . .

At the High School Tuesday: "Boy this place is like a barn. Is it cold. Wonder where the Cambridge team is. Arlington has been on the floor for ten minutes. 'What did you say? No second team game? Good. But too bad here come some more Latin players. The floor doesn't appear to be so slippery. That's a nice looking red head sitting by Fred Ostegen over in the corner. Who's that with him? Joe Bevins and Henry Hormel. Ski pants seem to be fairly popular with the girls. Not much of a crowd. Too cold. There are the referees. They look natty with their official uniform and new sneakers. Gee this game is slow, and Arlington losing. Wonder how much they will lose by. Oh that's too bad. Brud Clarke was just swept off his feet and was hurt when he landed on his elbow. He's leaving the game. Pat O'Brien going in as forward. A promising youngster but not first team. Tough he just missed one. Wow, he got one, and another, and again, and again. If he sinks this foul shot Arlington will be only a point behind. What a game. Madden's loss on a pass from Lowder. He sunk it. Those dumb clucks why didn't they hold on to the ball. There's a score for Latin. But no, he missed it and the whistle. Some game. Betcha' Bill Lowder will have that young O'Brien on the first team now. Was he good? Well, out into the cold. Wonder if I can get a ride down?"

Basketball Officials To Meet Sunday

Edward M. Kelleher, of 87 Menotomy rd., has issued a call for a meeting of the Eastern Massachusetts District Board of Approved Basketball officials to take place at the Boston City Club, Somerset st., next Sunday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Mr. Kelleher is secretary-treasurer of the organization.

The following amendment, proposed by H. J. McGuinness, and passed at the December meeting, will be reconsidered at this meeting.

"When an applicant for membership has successfully passed the allotted tests and has been voted into the organization, the actual time which will mark his connection with the board shall date from December 1 of the current year when he was admitted. "Dues and listing fee paid by said applicant on applying for membership shall also date from December 1 of current year in which he was successful in the examination and properly admitted to the board."

Charron Pupils Planning Recital

The pupils of the Charron Studio are very busy planning their Mid-term Recital to take place in the Junior High East Hall on Monday, February 19th at 8 p.m. Many attractive features have been planned, and all the children have worked very hard to assure a most enjoyable evening's entertainment. The costumes this year are especially beautiful. All types of dancing will be portrayed from a Folk dance to the latest dancing novelty. About one hundred kiddies will take part.

URGES LOCAL PEOPLE TO USE RIGHT TO VOTE

To the Editor of the Arlington Daily News:

The Town election in March is now within hailing distance. The candidates are making their attempts, either individually or through the co-operation of groups of individuals endorsing them, to arouse the interest of the citizens. Now a decisive result in determining which of several candidates shall be entitled to hold the respective office to which he aspires, can be arrived at only by the exercise of the right of suffrage, by what we are wont to designate as the silent or stay-at-home vote, because on the face of the returns at the last election, this would seem to represent quite a large percentage of the electorate, without doubt, sufficiently large to maintain the balance of power. The voters who, in the main, constitute this class, it seems to me, are those who are outside of the "Circus-ring of politics", and who are far more responsive to platitudes, subscribed to in sincerity and truth, by a candidate who, through long exposure to the public eye, has proved that he possesses the knowledge, the ability and altogether the character, which will surround the office with an efficient and non-partisan atmosphere, than they are to top-laffy harangues, sometimes scurrilously shouted, or to diatribes, often peppered with poisonous intent, by a candidate whose back-ground is mere political drapery, and whose only apparent motive is self-aggrandizement. It is entirely possible, and even probable, that this class of voters become bewildered and confused, and perhaps even disgusted, in the maelstrom of politics and these combine to develop a bad case of apathy, and this apathy leads to the election of a minority candidate.

A successful minority candidate often favors his adherents, and this being so, the real majority may suffer, and any complaint on their part is null and void, after the ballots have been counted, their's is the blame, and their's only.

A condition of this nature should not be allowed to exist. Good old Arlington deserves better treatment at the hands of her electorate. This year this class of citizens, will have an opportunity to vote for men of the calibre which, it would seem, should appeal to their responsiveness and the exigencies of the occasion demand, that their erstwhile apathetic attitude be translated into action. The type of men referred to in the above paragraph, are men who will accept their oath of office seriously. They are men worthy of their hire, because they consider service paramount to remuneration. They are men whose election the best interests of the Town demand. And in the end, if the citizen would expect an honest performance of duty on the part of his servants, he should recognize the fact that his vote will serve as notice to that effect, and will be so accepted by an honest candidate.

Now again referring to the above mentioned candidates, they are men who have been selected for endorsement, by a large group of highly respected and representative individuals designating themselves as a Citizens' Committee. They have been selected because they place their love for our Old Town outside of the category of politics, and their only ambition is to serve, and that with dignity. They are not seeking office of their own volition and consequently owe no allegiance to any particular section of the Town, or to any particular group. The only boundary lines which will encompass the scope of their endeavor are those lines which bound the Town on the North, South, East and West. And in conclusion, a vote for these candidates, is a vote which proclaims for honesty and efficiency.

May Set Up Central Office For CWA Here

That Arlington may become the central office for the CWA administration governing the Towns of Belmont and Lexington as well as Arlington was indicated yesterday by Nell Peters, secretary of the Arlington Unemployment committee who is an active member of the local CWA board. The principal reason for retaining Arlington as the central office is because of construction now under way on the Cambridge - Concord highway. This is a Public Works Administration project. It is expected that about 300 men will be put to work on this job alone as soon as weather conditions permit. Because of this fact, it will be easier to assign the men to work from an office in Arlington.

Should Arlington, Lexington and Belmont be brought under the same office, it would be part of the process of concentration now going on in the CWA. Other communities have been combined during the past week.

Orders from the State Emergency Finance Board have been issued giving the Woburn administrative offices of the CWA full control over the groups in Wakefield, Stoneham, Wilmington, Reading, North Reading and Burlington.

In these towns, the CWA offices will be closed tonight and their records and registrations will be transferred to Woburn. The Winchester office has also been ordered closed, and the Winchester grouping will be assigned to the Medford office.

The clerical assistance in all these offices will be released and Malcolm S. White and Ralph Banwell of this city will be in charge of the local office, which absorbs the surrounding towns. Any new registration from these towns will be taken by the two Woburn men, although the records of each town will be handled separately.

The Woburn office was retained because of the big registration, number of projects and because of the fact that there will be two PWA projects in Woburn with the arrival of spring—the Aberjona Sewer job and the State Road widening job which has been suspended during the winter months.

According to the members of the Emergency Finance Board the Woburn office will eventually be abolished and its work and records assigned to Boston, the board now being engaged in arranging for the location of only seven offices all over the Commonwealth.

Local Girls Among Those Installed In Rainbow Assembly

Changes in Massachusetts civil service regulations, adoption of centralized purchasing by cities and towns, with estimated savings of $2,000,000, legislation requiring earlier submission of municipal budgets and restricting supplementary budgets, are recommended in the "Legislative Program for Government Economy in Massachusetts," recently prepared by the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Associations, and made public by the New England Council today.

The legislative program, which provides for specific economies in state, city and county government in Massachusetts, has been presented to the Special Commission on Public Expenditures of the Massachusetts Legislature. The Federation of Taxpayers' Associations, representing 140 organized taxpayers' groups in the state, was formed in 1932 at the suggestion of the New England Council as a "cooperative effort to reduce the tax burden through economy and increased efficiency in government," the report states.

Amend Civil Service
Amendment of the civil service laws of Massachusetts to permit transfer of employees, to exempt general salary reductions from right of appeal, to eliminate preliminary hearings before department heads in cases of discharge or reduction in pay, and to provide for hearings before a Civil Service Appeal Board instead of in the courts, is recommended in the Federation's program. Action to synchronize the tax year and fiscal year of municipalities by legislation compelling earlier submission of budgets and restricting supplementary budgets, and to have submitted to the voters the question of installing centralized purchasing, is also strongly advocated by the taxpayer group.

Other proposals for legislation affecting municipal expenditures contained in the Federation's legislative program include reduction of property tax exemptions now granted to quasi-philanthropic organizations, abolition of non-contributory pensions, regulations of municipal financial reports by the State Department of Accounts, establishment of a state agency to assist with municipal problems, and a survey of present laws affecting municipalities, to determine whether any provisions which tend to increase municipal costs can be suspended or eliminated.

The program although chiefly concerned with municipal government problems, also includes suggestions for changes in state and county governments. A survey of state employees to determine whether their number can be reduced, further consideration of suggested consolidations in activities, postponement of action on restoring state employees' salaries to former levels, are recommended, also placing county penal institutions and tuberculosis hospitals under state control, re-organizing district courts and registries of deeds, creating a special court for automobile liability cases, and increasing certain court fees are proposed.

The Hinckley report also states that "with respect to civil service regulations, the provisions governing the transfer of employees are believed to be directly responsible for considerable unnecessary expense brought about through the hiring of additional personnel when shifting from one department to another would suffice. Furthermore, they are in sharp contrast to provisions of similar nature in the civil service regulations of the State of New Jersey, for example, which specifically encourage such transfers of personnel in the interests of economy."

CIVIC COMMITTEE

park commission; Joseph Cormier, for three year term on the same board; and Joseph Bevins for school committee. The only contest for nomination outside the fight for selectman was for the three-year term on the park commission. Mr. Cormier was elected with 189 votes over Edward J. Swadkins, popular young man who polled the surprisingly strong vote of 139.

Meeting Quiet
Although fireworks had been predicted for the meeting which was attended largely by Democrats of the Town and which was the meeting was orderly and very little excitement was evidenced. Town Counsel John Murphy, president of the Civic Committee, was chairman of the meeting and at the very outset made it clear that rowdism would not be tolerated. The chairman was interrupted by a heckler during his introductory remarks and the unwelcome guest was politely escorted from the hall without much trouble. A warning to others who might have expected to cause trouble, this incident served as a damper on further "uprising." Chairman Murphy made it plain that the Civic Committee welcomed all candidates and that all would have their turn to speak. Following the speaking program, a vote on each office was taken.

Opposes Women Teachers
Presenting his platform and qualifications, Joseph Bevins, first candidate to speak made it clear that as a candidate for reelection to the school committee he opposed the policy of allowing married women to teach in local schools. He said of the eight married women now teaching here eleven live outside of Arlington. He was nominated without opposition.

For cemetery commissioner no candidate presented himself. Joseph Cormier, the next candidate to speak, caused a mild sensation when he hinted that, if nominated for the park commission, he would have something to say of the resignation of John Wilson and the fact that Mr. Black, the other Citizens' Committee candidate last year, would not run again next March. Cormier advocated parks for the three sections of the town. Mr. Swadkins who polled a good vote pledged himself to support Sunday sports if nominated. Cormier won the nomination. Paul C. Griffin nominated for the two-year term on the park commission favored the finishing of each park instead of the present policy of spreading the work and improving each park little by little.

Peter F. O'Neil, life-long resident of Arlington, was nominated without opposition for assessor. Seeking the nomination on the basis of his past record, Edward T. Ryan was nominated for reelection to the public works board. No candidate was presented for the planning board.

Fight For Selectman

The meeting was brought to a lively climax with stirring appeals to swing the vote to favorite candidates for selectman. J. Frank Pacey was first candidate for selectman to speak and pledged to support the Civic slate whether he was nominated or not. John (Jack) Dale made a strong plea for the nomination of Arthur R. Murray, who polled a good vote in last year's election. Referring to the opposition outside the Civic Committee, Mr. Dale said, "we've been buffeted long enough. There are no party lines in the town election and we should therefore nominate candidates on their ability alone and not because of personality. We need a candidate who is fearless." Responding, Mr. Murray spoke of the records of Representatives Gott and Crosby and of Senator Warren whom he termed, "Citizens Committee men." Attorney Albert Hughes, the next candidate to speak urged the gathering to forget personalities and vote for a strong candidate. He gave a brief outline of his past record as alderman in Somerville.
